

PREFACE

Success is simply a perception of mind which can be developed with our behavior, thinking, leadership and decision making power. People that have achieved great things in their life, have been tested on fire to prove their metal.

-Charles Maurice

One day I went to a teacher to ask, what I should do to become a renowned comedian.

He suggested me writing my own script without any copy and paste.

The passion for writing a script gave me the thought of writing this book which ultimately it resulted in a motivational one.

On the basis of facts, figures and observations I found that youth having the potential to complete every type of task but somewhere due to lack of confidence and motivation they underestimate themselves and put themselves away from doing something new.

Some root causes of lack of confidence:

- Dejected with a little problem.
- Failure in time management “the most precious thing “
- Lose of concentration
- Lack of motivation

The book is divided into two parts:

PART -A

It comprises generalize chapters like success, concentration building, time management, love-attraction, how nature guides apart from all this we forget how spiritual and intellectual thinking plays a vital role in our life. For motivation, a person needs real-life illustration instead of a hypothetical story. I also discuss about “great experiences” and how “unique personalities” motivate us and become an important cause of turning point in life.

Part –A basically helpful to all either student, faculty, younger, older and all other people.

PART-B

In this section I mostly concentrate on the needs of students during the study, education, academics and basically focuses on how to choose a career, why self-study is important, how should we behave with teachers and faculty? How different subjects need a different strategy. Actually, most people think similar, but the question arises on how to think differently from others. That is “think out of the box”.

TO WHOM BOOK IS ADDRESS

The book is not just a compilation of data. The objective is not to generate sympathy but to motivate people for achieving their aim and reach their destination. Most of the book is addressed to school and college students. And some chapters are written to all, in generalized perspective. The book is totally motivational and contains a solution to a basic problem, what common youth faces. If you divert from your path a single reading of book bring you on right track.

WHEN AND HOW BOOK WAS WRITTEN

It was a time when I got admission in Chandigarh University after getting rejected by IIT, two times. Here I build my passion finally get started participating in different events of Literary (debate, poetry others), theatre, Hackathon, coding and many more. Being a comedian make people laugh, but the comedy script gave me a great thought of writing this book. I have started this book in December 2016 and finally completed it in March 2017. The time came of converting the manuscript into softcopy it a long story. Meanwhile, I went to Paris, France for one year where I had done a one-year exchange program and later came back to India in February 2019, and done final editing and proofreading of the book and finally launch it on the 19th of October 2019.
