

CHAPTER 13

PARENTS SUPPORT

“Teacher fills you with fathomless knowledge

Mother teaches culture, father gives value

And only parents are those who support

At every instant of life”

Parents, one who not only gives birth to their children but also enlighten the child with culture, love, literacy, enjoyment, relations, dresses and many more. It is the foremost duty of parents to understand the psychology level of a child and deal them sensitively, softly and with amusement. As the child passes from different stages of life synchronously behavior of parents and grandparents must also change at every stage of life, like during childhood we are full of love and affection, during teenager they treat us as friends and also allow us to take self-decisions.

If a child thinks about other fields and interested in it let him/her move forward, he/she might be something new, think out of the box. Because talent and innovative thoughts do not select the person before striking in the mind of anyone. The culture and atmosphere what provided by parents during an early age to a child that becomes the basic fundamentals and root of their son/daughter. Actually, sometimes parent scolds and even slap to their child for the small mistake which can be ignored and sometimes whole drama happen in presence of friends or relatives and child feel insult.

One thing should be clear more softly parents behave more children respect instead of beating or scolding to the children you can counsel them for not repeating the mistake. What you (father) are doing at home with family members like wife, grandfather, a mother that behavior will learn by the children. The rule in school also changed instead of punishing children used to counsel them because punishment may give rise anxiety and person become angry, mostly during teenage they are the one who loses control on mind and may create any offense but your polite behavior definitely cool down their mind.

A well-cultured child always thinks sensibly.

Now we move to the next topic that love affair, and relationship, unfortunately, the reaction of parents on such topics always radicle. As soon as parents got the information about any relationship (GF/BF) of a child their face becomes red like blood and eyes coming out of the face. The first and foremost duty of parents is to understand about the whole matter and they should try to understand the feeling of the child so he can treat with their parents as a friend. Now the time when you can convince your child with a positive attitude. Definitely, the blood in the vines of your child is yours. They would do that which maintain and preserve the heritage of the family.

THE MELANGE OF SUCCESS

I remember the incident when my friend was driving car in market and his father sitting beside him, at instant a girl passed by a Scotty from front side she was looking like a “queen of beauty” and after passing from the front side and she comes to backside when she passes beside the car, he starts adjusting the mirror to get her view for a few more seconds, the whole scene is observed by his father and he understood psychology of his son and starts convincing him:

He said, “This is just attraction at all, my son when you reach at the lofty hill of knowledge and placed at higher destination lot of such angels comes around you”. This thought always motivates him for studying and maintaining concentration.

If we move forward, the most important concept in student life is “freedom of expression”. Actually, parents are always suspicious about children. Always bother about their future, this suspiciousness somewhere resists children to think and work freely what he wants to do. People with narrow-minded not allowed boys and girls to sit together. They might sit together for group study they might be together as friends. Parents always doubtful to them with negative intentions.

Actually, girls have more competition within themselves, it is by their nature. They want to show themselves to their friends, particularly to other girls, that’s why they make boys as a friend. Boys and girls can be also good friends. Yes, it is true that girls are more soft-hearted than that of boys. But never forget in India girls are also worship as DURGA and KALI.

A COLLEGE GIRL

I remember a story about a girl in a college comes from a small town she did not know the sense of dressing, talking, expressing emotion, behaving at that time not only her classmates but also other friends ignore her. After thinking some days she realizes, “what the wrong, with her”. Once she was sitting isolated in a garden wearing black dress, shiny hairs, having two hair locks each side, with beautiful eyes and pretending herself in a joyful mood and thinking just to quit college instantly a boy passed from there he just sees her and understood the whole scene what is going inside her heart. The guy with helping nature just asked the girl “what happen”,

But the girl ignores him in a rude manner and did not want to talk with any stranger but the boy constantly insisted on her to know about the reason behind her dejection. After insisting a lot she starts talking and shares her thoughts and boy had supported her to understand the scenario of the world he teaches her good skills as well as and many more real-life things in which she was lacking.

After six months there was a college fest organized by college and students were invited to attend it and many completions were organized fashion show was one of them. Everyone was shocked by listening result of the fashion show because the winner was that girl whose name was “Kajal”. She was totally changed and her beauty was absolutely opposite to her name and look like an angel.

It was unbelievable for everyone that a girl who even hesitated to speak Hindi was speaking fluently English in American accents and well able to sing a song with variation tone and melodious voice. The man behind all this change in her life none else but that stranger. In your life even if you do not know who can change your life. Always respect everyone by judging nature and behavior. Never judge others from their looks because they are buyable things but culture and skills aren’t.

“440” VOLTS FORMULA

There is a good formula of “440” volts each and every parent and teacher must think to their children as soon as you passed 12th class and moves for college, whether are you medical or engineering student. After entering college, student diverted in many other negative fields so let them familiar with the thoughts like once you work hard for the next FOUR year during college time you will enjoy next FORTY years but if you enjoy these FOUR years the next FORTY years you have to work hard and that hard work is unbearable and needs extra effort. It was the foremost duty of parents to support and convince their children by showing them the right path.

One more thing that parent forgot, due to hypertension, panic, dejection, more pressure of study etc. student unable to think more about the particular thing and unable to take the right decision and unfortunately some students committed suicide because they were unable to struggle with the problem. Such suicide frequently did at Kota in Rajasthan and after announcing results of 12th due to great pressure of entrance exam either engineering or medical. Here it is the duty of parents not to pressurize students regarding marks and selection let them do by their ability what they want.

During the modern era, the relationship is also a big reason for committing a suicide. It is also a duty of parents to understand the psychology and feelings of their children.

Because if we talk about IIT institute there are 10,000 seats only and 15 lakhs aspirants, it means “150 on every seat”,

Now what 149 will do?

Definitely, they will be dejected but who will help them to overcome that depression. No one else only “SUPPORT OF PARENTS”.
